Digital Tools for Enriching Writing

Sponsored by the Wisconsin State Reading Association

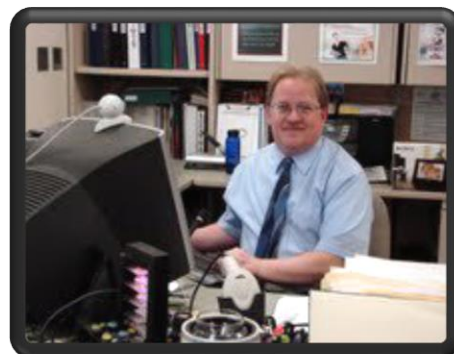

Advances in digital technologies are dramatically altering the writing process because of the tools available to teachers and students. These technological advances have created excitement among many for their potential to be used as instructional tools for enhancing writing education. Yet with these advances come challenges that have a huge impact on the instruction of writing. This presentation will look at some of the best tools out there (with an emphasis on free tools) and how to effectively implement them to positively impact writing instruction in your classroom.
