

WISCONSIN STATE READING ASSOCIATION PRESENTS

Critical Issues Literacy Leaders Need to Know NOW

FRIDAY
Aug. 18, 2017

Check-in and breakfast 8:00 AM
Institute 8:30 AM - 3:30 PM

Location: Carroll University for Graduate Studies, 2140 Davidson Road,
Waukesha, Wisconsin

The role of the reading specialist and other literacy leaders is multi-faceted, challenging, and constantly evolving. Navigating the critical issues we regularly face requires a solid and broad knowledge base and a deep level of expertise. As a new school year begins come join us for an institute designed to provide support to meet the changing expectation of the literacy leader.

Critical issues literacy leaders face include:

- Ways to communicate the complexity of literacy learning and instruction
- The importance of expertise in responsive literacy interventions
- Using research to support an effective literacy program
- Analysis of data to enhance student learning
- National and state literacy policies/legislation and its impact on students and teachers
- Resources to support literacy practices and assessments for student learning
- The importance of reflective practice based on sound principles of learning
- The multi-dimensional layers of professional development

For an additional charge, one optional credit can be obtained through Carroll University

Registration is online at www.wsra.org/2017-Literacy-Leaders

Registration Fees:

$50 WSRA member $95 nonmember
WSRA membership $37

Presenters:

- Mike Ford
University of Wisconsin
Oshkosh, Emeritus
- Kathy Champeau
Reading Specialist,
University of Wisconsin Milwaukee
- Barb Novak
DPI Literacy Consultant
- Laura Adams
DPI Literacy Consultant
- Norm Andrews
Reading Specialist,
Elmbrook
School District
- Deb Zarling
Reading Specialist,
Oshkosh Area School
District

Audience:

- Reading Specialists
- Reading Teacher
- Classroom Teacher
Administrator
- Special Education
Teacher